PRESS RELEASE

4th June 2021

The Malta Chamber signs MOU with the Malta Chamber of Construction Management to support ethical construction development

The Malta Chamber of Commerce, Enterprise and Industry and the Malta Chamber of Construction Management signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) aimed at supporting the business and development of the construction industry.

“This agreement is a clear indication of our commitment to support the construction industry to become more professional. Construction managers will have a huge responsibility in the transformation of this sector and as Malta’s leading business representative body, The Malta Chamber will provide the required support to all players within this industry,” said The Chamber President Marisa Xuereb.

Ms Xuereb emphasised that The Malta Chamber is the ideal platform that provides the right mechanisms for a joint effort assisting entities in pushing their sector forward and making their voice heard in a meaningful way. The President of the Malta Chamber of Construction Management (MCCM), Mr Jesmond Chetcuti highlighted the close collaboration between all interested and impacted stakeholders within the construction industry.

“The MCCM will be representing the various levels of construction management. MCCM is very pleased to have reached this agreement with the highly reputable Malta Chamber. This close collaboration will help to address issues of concerns and the finding of solutions,” said Mr Chetcuti.

In this context the two entities shall seek to co-operate actively on matters of national economic policy with respect to the community of construction management, architecture and civil engineering and the upholding of business ethics while promoting best practices amongst members of both organizations, and the general-public.
