Malta Chamber, on behalf of ethical business calls for political maturity

The Malta Chamber, on behalf of all ethical businesses, calls on political parties to exercise maximum caution and responsibility, and avoid taking to the streets, while the country is facing one of the most challenging times in recent history.

Political rallies will only foment the current insecurity, which in turn will reflect negatively on the international stage.

The Malta Chamber therefore calls on all politicians to do the right thing, and immediately start restoring Malta's good name, in the national interest.

In the past days, Malta's reputation has been severely compromised. It is now time to act responsibly and ensure that justice is served. Only in this way will the country be able to calm down, heal and move forward.
